This comprehensive and up-to-date program will help you develop your individual training skills. Key training points in this enjoyable, step-by-step approach will help you create quality training programs for your agency.

This highly interactive and fast-paced course will cover the following topics;

- Adult learning principles and how to apply them effectively
- Presentation techniques that will help build your confidence in front of an audience
- How to plan and organize your curriculum development
- Develop instructional goals and objectives
- Different types of training for specific training needs
- Building trainer skills-communications, resources, and planning
- Audio-visual techniques that add impact to your presentation
- Writing a lesson plan that works
- Getting the most out of testing and examinations
- Considerations for a co-ed practical environment
- Overview of the general legal principles affecting training

Included in this course will be hands-on exercises that will allow you to write your own instructional goals, construct a lesson plan, develop a teaching method, and conduct a presentation for your class. Your final presentation will be video-taped for your confidential review. As a student, you will be expected to spend some time outside the classroom developing and completing assignments and course projects.

Who should attend? Law enforcement personnel, who are or will be given the responsibility for developing, redeveloping, writing or supervising training and educational programs.
